	GCSE	Dance	Personalised Learning Che	ecklist
Exam Board: AQA		My target grade is:
Topic/Module	e: Component	2: E. of E.]
Year Group: 9	9-11		My predicted gr	ade is:
Use this che	ecklist before	-	nent to focus your revision, an eness of your revision	d after to	o check	the
G I am co	nfident about t	his topic and	I know what I need to do to revi	ise it time rev	rising this topic		may need to check with my tea question on this topic. I need to			ore and ensure I h
Revision		Topic	/ Unit Focus	R	Α	G
Resources						0
	Critic		ation of professional set works ation of Expressionism
	Performance	g / Set g ne ers etting for the cam environmer nium arch age nsitive
	 Structurondo, end, ut Chorea devela climax 	nic content: nent conten ring Devices narrative, e nity, logical s ographic de opment, repe	at (A, S, D and R) s and form (binary, ternary, pisodic, beginning/middle/ sequence, transitions) evices (motif and etition, contrast, highlights, on of number, unison and Choreographic intent: Mood(s) Meaning(s) Idea(s) Idea(s) Theme(s) Style/style fusion(s). Style/style fusion(s). To critically appreciate professional works through describing, analysing, interpreting, evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand: The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created and performed.

Meaning(s) Iidea(s) Theme(s) Style/style fusion(s). To critically appreciate professional works through describing, analysing, interpreting, evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand: The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	Choreographic intent:
Iidea(s) Theme(s) Style/style fusion(s). To critically appreciate professional works through describing, analysing, interpreting, evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand: The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	 Mood(s)
Iidea(s) Theme(s) Style/style fusion(s). To critically appreciate professional works through describing, analysing, interpreting, evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand: The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	Meaning(s)
Theme(s) Style/style fusion(s). To critically appreciate professional works through describing, analysing, interpreting, evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand: The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	0(1)
Style/style fusion(s). To critically appreciate professional works through describing, analysing, interpreting, evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand: The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created To critically appreciate professional works through describing, analysing, interpreting, evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand: The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance Interpreting, students must know and understand: The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work Interpreting, between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created Interpretion evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand: The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created		ul voin o	internre	ting
The similarities and differences between the defining characteristics of each dance The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created characteristics of each dance Intercontribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work The relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	evaluating and reflecting, students must know and understand:
The contribution of choreography (as above), performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the workThe relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intentionThe purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	The similarities and differences between the defining performance and features of production to the audience's understanding of the work Ine relationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	characteristics of each dance
audience's understanding of the work Inerelationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	The contribution of choreography (as above),
audience's understanding of the work Inerelationships between choreography, performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	performance and features of production to the performance and features of production (as above) and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	The relationships between choreography,
and the ways in which these have been used together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created	performance and features of production (as above)
together to enhance audience understanding of the choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created choreographic intention The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created
The purpose or significance of different performance environments in which the dance was created environments in which the dance was created

Additional Support/ Guidance:

- Attend lunchtime clubs and revision sessions in preparation for your theoretical written examination.
- Create, for revision purpose: Analysis and anthology charts comparing and contrasting all six of the professional dance works.

Dance company	Choreographer
Stopgap Dance Company	Lucy Bennett
Rambert Dance Company	Itzik Galili
The Royal Ballet	Wayne McGregor
Phoenix Dance Theatre	Christopher Bruce
James Cousins Company	James Cousins
Boy Blue Entertainment	Kenrick H2O Sandy
	Stopgap Dance Company Rambert Dance Company The Royal Ballet Phoenix Dance Theatre James Cousins Company